

Haustellum tryoni (Hidalgo in Tyron, 1880)
= Murex tryoni
Tryon's Murex

Class Gastropoda
Family Muricidae

Classification according to Turgeon et al. (1998)
References used: Abbott (1974), Radwin and D'Atilio (1976)

Diagnostic characters: One inch, club-shaped, fragile; siphonal canal with 1 or 2 spines; the body whorl has 3 varices with 3 short straight spines each, between varices are very minute beads arranged in 6 or 7 axial rows. Shell white to pale fleshy pink, the crests of the spiral cords are pale red-brown.

Habitat: Rare, 128 to 366 m.

Range: Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean.

